About The Source

Distributed weekly to all members, The Source serves as the primary form of membership-wide communication at ACHA. Each week’s newsletter contains association announcements; industry news and resources; advocacy and policy highlights related to health and higher education; and featured job opportunities pulled from our careers website.

About ACHA

The American College Health Association serves as the principal leadership organization for the field of college health and wellness and advances the health of college students and campus communities through advocacy, education, and research. ACHA serves more than 700 institutions of higher education. These institutions represent the diversity of the higher education community—two and four year, public and private, large and small. ACHA also serves over 11,000 individual college health care professionals—administrators and support staff, physicians, physician assistants, nurses and nurse directors, health educators, mental health providers, nutritionists, and pharmacists. Many of our members are in a position in their health center to purchase or recommend products.
